

The rippled validators will each be in a cluster with the testing application. The testing application will work as a proxy for the validators

